

Dear FCC,
I'm a faithful listener to XM satellite radio. I do not understand why big business radio would want to keep satellite radio from broadcasting local weather and traffic updates. Though I do not often listen to these local services, it's comforting to know that they are there, and I don't have to search the FM dial in hopes of finding a station that has this information. Please allow this service to continue.

Sincerely,

Larry Morin